Water supply is one of the major project features of the Rend Lake Dam and Reservoir. Storage space is provided in the reservoir for as much as 40 million gallons per day for industrial and domestic use in 31 principal communities and numerous small towns and unincorporated areas. The Rend Lake Conservancy District has arranged through the Economic Development Administration and Community Facilities Administration for financing the construction of a permanent distribution system to serve the various communities. The system will include an intake pumping station and water treatment plant to be located on the eastern shore of Rend Lake Reservoir.
